

Drunken (Esther Kaiser) - 2006

1. Drunken by a Song

With tip toe steps

Her walk is like a dance

Because her spirit's in a trance

Her whole being is a song

The melodic line's her life

Much sweeter and deeper

Than the outside world occurs

'cause dark veils might fall down on her golden cage

we all are living in a virtual age

Ref:

Holding her breath

Listening to the sound

The dissonance inside

The word of love

Of love

2. Drunken by a Song

She goes on and on

Inside a speedy train

Surrounded by a sweet refrain

The world outside consists

Only of stripes of grey

But inside her heart there's music

For her to brighten up the day

'cause harsh words and sad eyes linger all around

while she's in the midst of a big symphonic sound
