

The world is yours (Dez. 2007)

Silently waiting enjoying the warmth around you
And trusting in your little universe
You're my little one
And the world is yours

Not hoping not yearning you're part of the heart of life
Like the most beautiful leaf of a velvet rose
You're my little one
And the world is yours

Your dreams are made out of bright stardust
Your thoughts are light
But how your heart beats
As if you would dance inside
And bright light surrounds you, my love

And here I'm waiting and hoping that you
Will see a world that welcomes you
Though full of pain
The sun is there to shine upon your little life
And music...
So many things and wonders are waiting for you
And so am I

You're my little one
And the world is yours
